FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

"In the depth of winter, I finally learned that within me there lay an invincible summer." - Albert Camus

The challenges of winter not only make us value the gifts of summer but also teach us to how to deal with perennial ice. We can complain or cry about the intense cold but we also have the choice to search for our own invincible summer and Sun within. To me, pandemic seems like an extended winter with its own obstacles and dilemmas. How we deal with it, reflects our personality.

Having said this, the universal truth is that the children have been affected the most by the pandemic. Students who had to appear for SSCE, SSE, JEE, NEET 2021 and other important career deciding examinations have lived under extreme anxiety for months worrying about the decisions taken for them. It seemed that the students were also looking for their invincible summer. I am proud of how these students had been consistent with their effort and have given their best. The SSCE 2021 result declared is an outcome of their past performances and is true reflection of their consistency and commitment to hard work. The SSE 2021 results too, reflect the perseverance of students who rose to the occasion to succeed with flying colors.

I would also like to congratulate parents for such amazing result of their wards. They had such an important role to play in the era of online teaching. We sought and gladly received constant support from them for the conduct of assessments, for the attendance and for constructive feedback and suggestions. The hard work and dedication of the staff needs to be put on record. The teachers proactively switched to online mode of teaching and assessment while struggling with their own personal challenges and managing Tech demands.

Good Education should teach the learners not only how to make a living but also how to live. I am hopeful that our children will wade through their winters with right set of values and skills. Indeed, they are our future and the future seems bright and safe in their hands.

Wishing all my students best of luck in all their future endeavors.

MESSAGE FROM VICE PRINCIPAL

"The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy." — Martin Luther King Jr.

As an educator, I strongly believe in the fact that we learn a lot when the circumstances are favourable but we learn the most when the swim against the waters. Herein lies the inner strength of a true learner. I am often amazed by the innate resilience in our children that gives them courage to stand against the dismal times. For the past year and half, the world has been shifting gears to live with Covid 19 pandemic and its disastrous consequences. The world of education moved to online mode and suddenly, the teachers as well as learners were grappling with the tech tools. The students missed their school spaces but they started to learn and adjusted well. And, subsequently, there was time when we held special classes in the school building for our students following strict Covid protocol. Again, our students showed us their fortitude by adapting to these norms with maturity and sincerity. To me, this has been my students' one of the greatest achievements: to adapt to all circumstances and all directives with great poise. They had many challenges thrown at them- online classes, shifting from online to Hybrid teaching, project work, online Practical work, making files etc. They accepted all challenges in good stead and emerged triumphant with their excellent quality of work.

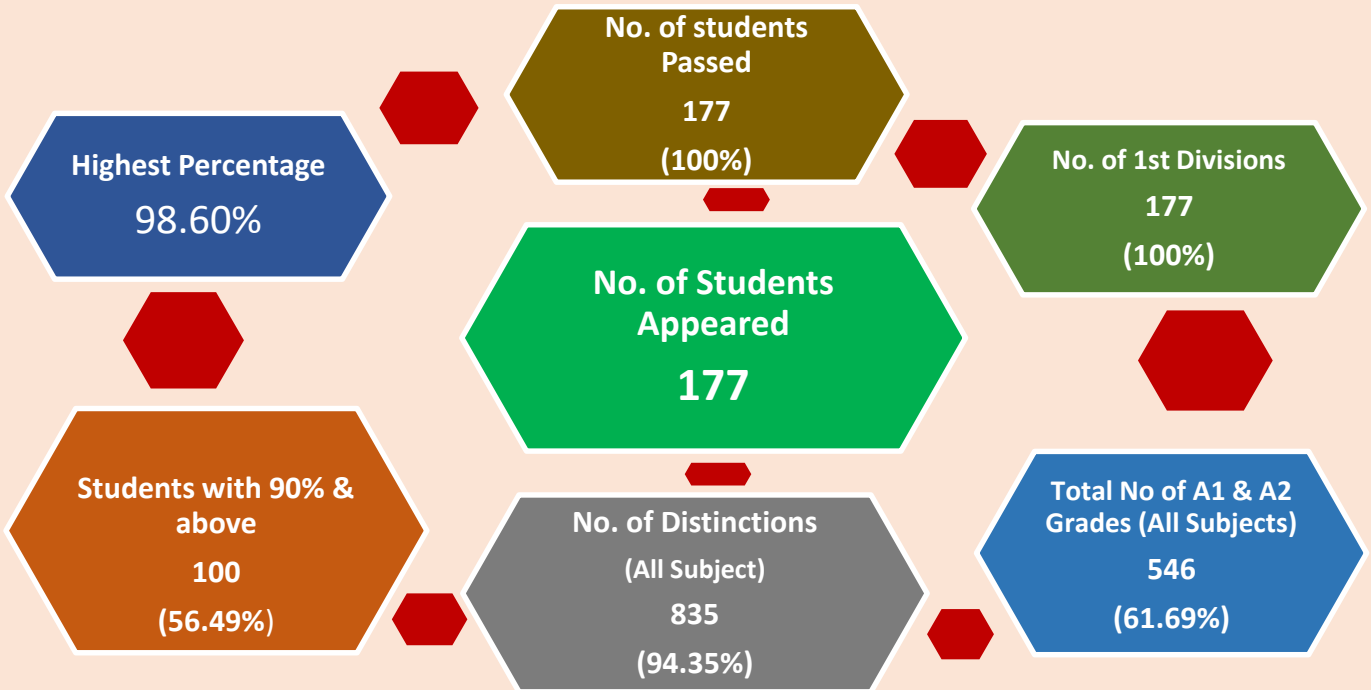

The excellent Board results have also reinforced the fact that our students have outshone their predecessors and shown us what can be achieved with consistency and commitment. I take this opportunity to congratulate all my students for their performance and hope that the skills, knowledge and attitudes inculcated in them over the years in school take them to greater heights and bring them bigger rewards. Ability to cope with all kinds of challenges will pave path for future success. I conclude with my favourite words by George Herman, "It's hard to beat a person who never gives up."

Best Wishes and blessings.

Success is nothing but foregoing all the distractions for achievement of one's long-term goal. The kind of percentage and knowledge I have achieved wouldn't been possible without my parents and my tenacious teachers. My school has not only provided me with academic support but also the exposure to diverse co-curricular activities, which aided in shaping my overall personality and keeping my mind fresh.
Mahek Gupta

All of who I am, it is because of the school where I have spent fourteen years of my life. I will never be able to forget all the learnings I have imbibed during these years. Whatever I have achieved today, I owe to the teachers who taught us with utmost passion and dedication. The times have been extremely difficult but they found a way to keep teaching and pushing us through. They never gave up on us and constantly motivated us. Over these years, I have not only gained academic knowledge from them but have also grown as a person.

'The best teachers are those who show you where to look but don't tell you what to see'.

- Alexandra K. Trenfor

I can never thank my teachers enough. It has been a beautiful journey so far and I hope to make them proud one day.
Sabhya Gupta

Year past had been tough time for all of us but this never became a barrier in our learning experience. The teachers were there to solve our doubts at a ring of a bell. They not only assisted us academically but even kept us motivated, enthusiastic and stress free. It's the educators who offered help, watered our hopes and believed in us that sooner or later we will bear fruits. Each one of them is like a rung of a ladder that helped me climb up in life. As I step into the real world, I would like to thank all my mentors for their patience and support. A heartfelt gratitude for shaping me the right way!
Dhriti Khurana

My journey of 14 years in my school cannot be described in a few words. When I look back, my experience is full of learning, laughter, friendships and much more. My good performance in the class 12th board would not have been possible without the guidance and support of our wonderful teachers. They have not only given us bookish but also worldly knowledge. The school has taught us that the most important thing in life over everything is to become a good human being. So, given this opportunity I would like to thank all the members of our school, including the teachers, the support staff under the able guidance of our principal ma'am, without whom I would not have been able to achieve what I have achieved and become who I am today.
