“One of the only ways to get out of a tight box is to invent your way out.”
- Jeff Bezos

The Economics Times (Industry) revealed the promising rise of literacy in India in the past two decades as a shocking contrast to the rising unemployment amongst skilled personnel. The overall unemployment rate in the country at 6.80% and the unemployment amongst well educated youth at almost thrice the national average of unemployment is evidence to the changing trends of the contemporary times. To cope with the larger issue of unemployability than unemployment, Entrepreneurship is the only unanimously agreed solution by one and all. Integrating Entrepreneurship skills in Education 4.0, thus, stands as the most imperative strategy for a fulfilling education that would nurture a shift in the youth's focus from seeking jobs to creating marketable opportunities for themselves.

As the mentor of the modern world Entrepreneurs should have the ability to navigate an uncertain future and also, the ability to accept failure as a step to improvement. They must turn every feedback into a feed forward. It is important to hone metacognitive skills for successful entrepreneurship endeavors as the ability to reflect before a task, while on the task and after the task is crucial and central to the success of an enterprise.

I believe, schools and educators have to shoulder the greater responsibility to groom the desired Entrepreneurship skills by providing a fearless environment where learners can put forth their creative ideas without getting snubbed or laughed at. It is in this endeavor, that we rested our firm faith in 'Let's Build Together: An Inter School Entrepreneurship Contest'.

The event in collaboration with School Sharks helped the students ideate, critically examine and substantiate their business idea into a vision for the future. With this, BBPSRH truly has become a champion in the pursuit of 21st Century Education.

The most important and pertinent objective of Education should be to help children see all hurdles and challenges not as roadblocks but as opportunities for growth. This is the foremost skill required from our students to survive in the future world. It is here that Innovation in education plays a pivotal role. It's not just about the new technology, it's about solving a real life problem in a way which is simple, sustainable & successful.

Innovation in education can be introduced in multiple forms and methods like programmes, events, competitions etc. They all can enhance education outcomes in cutting edge ways. Many innovators are already at work in classrooms and communities and at BBPS, Rohini, our endeavour is to bring in as many opportunities as possible that provides students ample space and environment to explore & experiment. We believe that Innovation is not about lofty meanings or extensions but about the spirit of openness - to look at existing products, processes and problems with fresh eyes, fresh perspective and to address them in different & new ways. Philosophically as well, it is a recognition that we don't have all the answers but we are always open to new approaches to improve existing systems and schemes. BUILD2TOGETHER is an effort in association with School sharks that helps prepare students for a dynamic workplace by providing them opportunities to develop skills such as creativity, adaptability, and resilience. We are so pleased with the enthusiastic participation, thus, share with you the glimpses of the event.

As educators, we strive to not just improve the academic performance in application based scenario but also develop soft skills for a successful and satisfying life in future.

Wishing all the budding innovators best of luck.

"Entrepreneurship, in its narrowest sense, involves capturing ideas, converting them into products and, or services and then building a venture to take the product to market" (Johnson, 2001, p. 138).

I believe entrepreneurship, in the modern-day world, represents clear organisational behaviour, absolutely imperative for the learners of today. With risk taking, proactivity, and innovation as its key elements, entrepreneurship paves path to practice all that has been learnt through curricular and co-curricular transactions at school. Build2gether, an absolute pioneer of its own kind had been conceived with the very intention of providing a platform for entrepreneurial ideas. It has by far been the perfect manifestation of the goals of NEP intertwined with the Ministry of Education's aim of encouraging Innovation. By the end of the online sessions and the offline event, I found myself in absolute awe of the superb business plans of the participants and their well examined details. The ideas presented brought me a new perspective to life, its problems and the impending solutions. A generation barely out of school yet so skilled is a promise of a very bright future. In the truest of its sense the participants had made the best of their 21st century skills of critical examination, creativity and collaboration. Popularising such competitions would only allow a learning system more experiential than textual, more analytical than didactic and more fluid than compartmentalised. It is time we all par take of the desired evolution in the field of education to sync in with the larger phenomenon of life.

"The secret of getting ahead is getting started" Mark Twain

Entrepreneurship is the endeavor of creating, owning, and commercializing an idea, technology, product, or service, as well as assuming the risks and rewards associated with that enterprise. Entrepreneurs are often viewed as innovators or even pioneers of new industries. Successful entrepreneurs innovate by striving to continually improve processes, reduce costs, or make products better. Entrepreneurs are associated with innovation because innovating gives the founder's company a competitive advantage and offers entrepreneurs an outlet for their creativity.

Entrepreneurs are rightly known as national assets and individuals who are motivated to a great degree. Your destination as an entrepreneur is in the journey. Regardless of how big, profitable, or stable your business becomes, it will require creativity and innovation to maintain its peak. Keep working to solve problems, both new and recurring. There's a lot we can achieve through hard work, dedication, and endurance. It's important to take dedicated action toward staying happy, healthy, and positive. When we contribute to ourselves, then we have enough to contribute to the world.

Entrepreneurship leads to job creation as it encourages the expansion of related industries. Entrepreneurs are in high demand in today's world, and good entrepreneurship development will enable them to be risk-takers, solution-seekers, and idea-generators. Fostering entrepreneurial development results in strong business fortunes, which leads to business sustainability and growth. Entrepreneurs have the power to shape economies, communities, and individuals around them through innovation, creativity, and enterprise, bringing foresight and positivity.

#BUILD2GETHER was a big opportunity for my partner and I to showcase our idea. It has been a big enough platform to get recognition for our ideas and gather support from people to help us move forward and convert this idea into a reality. BUILD2GETHER taught me many things. I learned a lot from judges present in the offline pitching session and the online sessions. But most of all, I got an exposure to the business world and learned a lot from my fellow contestants. BUILD2GETHER was a good learning opportunity for my partner Vihaan and I to achieve our goal.
