Activity: The Wisdom of Ravana: 10 Heads, 10 Teachings

Brief introduction-

In this activity, students will explore the deeper meaning behind Ravana's 10 heads and discover valuable life lessons. Each head represents different traits—some that reflect wisdom and power, while others reveal flaws like ego and greed. By understanding these, students can learn how to balance their own strengths and weaknesses in life.

LEARNING OUTCOMES	ACTIVITIES INVOLVED
The students will
• develop effective communication and expression	BRAIN STORMING- Students enhanced communication by discussing Ravana's 10 heads and expressing ideas about traits like wisdom, power, and ego. They practiced clear expression and improved their ability to share insights confidently.
• appreciate the nuances of various genres	DEMONSTRATION- Students engaged in hands-on crafting to create representations of Ravana's 10 heads, each reflecting traits like wisdom, power, and flaws such as ego and greed. They practiced their artistic skills while discussing the meanings behind each trait, reinforcing the life lessons associated with Ravana.
• develop a sense of artistic expression	ACTIVITY METHOD- students bringing their cutouts to create representations of Ravana's heads. They designed each head to reflect traits like wisdom, power, and flaws such as ego and greed. While crafting, students discussed the meanings behind each trait, reinforcing the associated values and flaws in a creative way.

• develop confidence and creative expression	SPEAKING ACTIVITY- Students shared what they learned from creating Ravana's heads. They discussed the traits represented by each head, such as wisdom, power, ego, and greed. They reflected on how these traits related to their own lives, highlighting the importance of balance and self-awareness. This sharing helped them express their insights and reinforce the lessons learned during the activity.
